Wedding Bells.

Ed. Phillips and Miss Idell Waite were united in marriage by Rev. C. W. Deming last Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Flood in Kingman. The bride is teaching school at Golconda and the groom is also employed at the Golconda mine. The bride is quite well known in Kingman, having taught school in this county a couple of years and has many friends who will wish her all the joy possible in her new venture. The couple will reside at Golconda.

It may not be generally known, but nevertheless true that a recently enacted law of the Arizona legislature makes it a misdemeanor punishable by imprisonment of not more than one year in the county jail or by fine of three times the amount of wage owing, for any person, firm or corporation to employ laborers without first having at least two weeks wages for each and every one of said laborers within the state, over and above exemptions allowed by law, and who does not at all times keep and hold said amount of two weeks wage within the state from which to pay the labor so employed. This law was passed for the purpose of preventing flyby night gentlemen from employing men without having the necessary money in bank to meet payroll, and protects them where the miner's lien law may be inadequate.

E. F. Thompson has sold his business on Front street to E. S. Holstein & Co., and this week turned the business over. He will now devote his time and energy to the promotion of mining and real estate interests. Mr. Thompson is one of the big boosters of Mohave county and is sure to make a success along new lines. He was one of the original owners of the Golconda mine and is still interested in that property, which has made one of the greatest successes in the development of zinc ores.

The Santa Fe is now running two trains daily between Kingman and Chloride, one train leaving at 7:30 and the other one at about 12 noon. The return of the morning train will be about 10:30 and the afternoon train at 3:30. This new arrangement will make possible a round trip to Chloride by business men without the necessity of remaining over night. It is expected that the great tonnage of ore that will be shipped from Chloride will compel a heavier engine to be used on that run.

E. F. Thompson and County Attorney C. W. Herndon have leased the room in the Lovin & Withers building, formerly occupied by the Crystal ice cream parlor, and are having it fitted up for office purposes. Mr. Thompson purposes opening a real estate office and Mr. Herndon will occupy the balance of the room with his law office.

J. M. Vassar, superintendent of the Boundary Cone Gold Mines company, was a Kingman visitor this week. He reports the mine showing high values in all the new work and that the development of the property is progressing with satisfactory dispatch.

Edward B. Sturges, the New York mining expert, who was in Mohave county a short time since examining properties, is quite sick at his home in New York. Mr. Sturges made a very favorable impression among mining men here as a man of much ability.

C. W. Davis this week received three new Glide automobiles, one for Dr. A. L. Tilton, another for a cattleman at Fort Rock, and the third for himself. The machines are among the best turned out by automobile manufacturers.

H. L. McCann, general manager of the Rainbow Mountain Mining company, is in Kingman. The company will soon be shipping a large tonnage of ore to the smelter from the mines, the railroad being constructed to the bunkers at the foot of the aerial tram.

P. McCardell, the well known mineral surveyor, has gone to Salt Springs, where he is surveying the Luthy group of mines for patent. These mines are among the best in the Gold Basin section, carrying gold, silver and copper values.

William Miller, of Long Beach, California, who is heavily interested in the Minnesota-Connor, Juno and other mines at Chloride, is in Kingman looking after matters connected with these properties.

All Reciprocity Congressmen Defeated.

Every congressman of republican persuasion whose vote was recorded in favor of the Canadian reciprocity bill, with the exception of Sereno Payne, were defeated at Tuesday's election. Among these are well known figures in the congress for the past twenty or thirty years. Uncle Joe Cannon, the once Czar of Congress met his Waterloo at the hands of a divided republican party; Dalzell, of Pennsylvania, a well known figure in the nation, went down to defeat; Nick Longworth, who would not be shaken in his republicanism, was shaken from his seat in congress by the democratic landslide. Needham, of California, was defeated by the progressive split. He was the last of the old timers California has sent to Congress year after year. In all the democrats have gained fully sixty members and enough legislatures have been carried to change the completion of the senate. While the democratic party is in doubt as to the majority the returns indicate that a tie vote is the worst they can expect, with six states that elect senators in doubt.

Five States for Equal Suffrage.

The women of five states of the Union have come into their own, that number of states having declared at the recent election for equal suffrage. The states voting favorably on the measure were Nevada, Oregon, Michigan, Kansas and Arizona. Wisconsin voted unfavorably, being the one state that refused equal suffrage privileges to the women. Six states had already granted women the privileges of equal suffrage and quite a number of the other states allowed women to hold the offices of superintendent of schools.

Good Roads.

Yesterday afternoon a meeting of the people interested in good roads was held at the office of Dr. J. R. Whiteside and arrangements were perfected by which the doctor is to attend the meeting of the National good roads boosters at Las Vegas, New Mexico, next Monday. Dr. Whiteside is one of the biggest boosters for good roads in the county and it is fitting that he should present the claim of the northern Arizona transcontinental route to the meeting.

Ed. Frankforter left Wednesday for the Chemehuevis to make preparations for the further development of his valuable group of claims in that section.

Ross McCauseland, who is operating the Metallic Accident mine, at Mineral Park, under option, is in Kingman.

A. J. Bailey, a R. R. Engineer, Batesville, Ark., says: "I suffered with kidney and bladder trouble so bad I was unable to work. I had such severe pains in my back I could hardly get up. I tried several physicians with no result. I recommend them to all." H. H. Watkins, Druggist.

Mohave County Returns.

Returns from Mohave county are slow coming in, but enough has been received to show that Wilson and Hayden have carried the county by nearly one hundred plurality. The vote so far received gives Wilson 288, Taft 68, Roosevelt 204, Debs 171. The vote on congressman has not been received from all the precincts from which returns for president were had, but as Hayden is running ahead of the ticket he will have a still larger vote than that given Wilson.

The women of Arizona have cause to rejoice with those of Mohave county in the big vote given the suffrage cause, the vote showing 314 for suffrage and 76 against. The vote from all the precincts will increase this vote to 500 for and less than 100 against. Oatman was the banner precinct of the state, the vote being 100 for and only one against. Kingman gave 112 for and only 43 against.

The miner's lien law, which the MINER has been fighting so strenuously was defeated in the county, but it is feared that it carried in the state. The measure is one that will do great harm to the mining industry and a campaign for its defeat should be set on foot at once. Mining has too many obstacles in the way without putting up insurmountable barriers. The vote on the measure, so far as heard from in the county, is as follows:

For the lien law, 136; against the law 252.

The election throughout the county was one of the quietest ever held, there being not one case of drunk in the town, nor was there one reported from any part of the county. In all the years of political strife there was less animosity displayed at this election than ever before, the people taking everything good naturedly.

Earl Tarr came in from Mineral Park a few days ago. He reports things looking bright in that part of the county and a good many out in the hills doing assessment work.

J. L. Munds, one of the large sheep and cattle men of Northern Arizona, returned to Kingman yesterday from a trip to Southern California.

Arizona's First State Election.

Returns from the first election since Arizona became a state apparently resulted in the election of the democratic ticket, headed by Wilson electors. The vote is estimated at 12,000 for Wilson, 8,000 for Roosevelt, 3,600 for Taft, 2,500 for Debs. Hayden for congress ran ahead of his ticket and probably has 5,000 majority over Fisher, progressive, his nearest competitor.

Wilson carried every county in the state, with the exception of Yuma, which returned about 100 majority for Roosevelt.

Every amendment to the constitution, including that enfranchising women, was carried by votes from two to one to ten to one, the suffrage amendment going through by four to one vote. Every county voted strongly in favor of the amendment. All the parties favored the amendment enfranchising women and they apparently kept faith.

The referred laws were all carried, with the possible exception of the miner's lien law, which is said to be running close to defeat. All railroad regulation laws were carried by big majorities, as was the semi-monthly payday and the game law. These measures will not go into effect until after the first of January, the vote not being counted until the 2d of December and then the proclamation of the governor must be issued, which will cover another thirty days.

Mrs. Joe Martinez and daughter, Miss Grace, are visiting Kingman this week from Gold Road. A successful operation was performed on Miss Grace's throat and the little lady is getting along nicely.
